

Contents

Editors' foreword
Authors' foreword
List of Tables
List of Figures
Abbreviations

I. POLITICAL TRADITIONS

1. Long-term traditions
2. The traditions of the period 1848–1944
3. The short democratic experience after 1944
4. The tradition of the communist era
5. The democratic transformation

II. POLITICAL CULTURE AND POLITICAL THINKING

1. What is political culture?
2. Heritage
  - Attitudes toward the government
  - Pessimistic attitudes
  - The rejection of 'party discord'
  - Individualization
  - The dual scale of values
  - The low level of subjective political competence and political cynicism
3. The dimensions of political culture
  - Interest in and knowledge of politics
  - The interpretation of democracy
  - Support for the system
  - Relationship with the nation and a political community
  - Trust in different institutions
  - Participation in politics
4. Values and attitudes
  - Materialism and indifference toward politics
  - Anti-Roma and anti-Semitic sentiment
5. Summarizing the features of Hungarian political culture
  - The homogeneity of political culture
  - Political culture and the stability of the system
6. Political thinking in Hungary
  - The revival of classical philosophical trends

III. THE CONSTITUTION AND SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT

1. Constitutional and governmental traditions
2. Regime change: the birth of a democratic constitution and governmental system

- 3. Main characteristics of the constitution
- 4. Constitutional legitimacy deficit and the relationship to legislation on the Constitution
- 5. Summary

IV. GOVERNMENT AND PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

1. The government's internal public law structure

The prime minister principle: the rise of the head of the government

Government as a body

Independence of ministers: the departmental principle

2. Effect of the party system and the coalition government

Formation of a government

Career of the prime minister

Recruitment, selection and career paths of ministers

Party background as power source and limit for a prime minister

Coalition governments

3. The structure of the Hungarian public administration and its political management

4. Governmental management of public administration: the role of ministries

Governing by rules

Governing by leadership and managing competence

Governing by personnel appointment: patronage power

5. The governmental decision-making process, the structure of the government and the role of the prime minister

The political resources of the prime minister, institutions and tools for coordination

Reconciliation procedure in public administration and the government's internal hierarchy

The Prime Minister's Office

Two reforms of the governmental system (1998 and 2006)

6. Summary

V. THE PARLIAMENT

1. About the Hungarian parliament in general

2. The legislative process

The referral

Placing proposals on the parliament's agenda

The speaker of the parliament: delegating a proposal to appointed committee(s) and the first (preliminary) discussion of the committee.

The agenda

The general debate

The second discussion of the committee

The detailed debate

The third discussion of the committee

Decision-making

3. Institutional characters

The government and the speaker of the parliament

The plenary assembly
Permanent committees

4. The political actors

Members of Parliament
The party factions

The relationship between the government and the governing parties

The opposition

5. The parliamentary liability of the government: the vote of confidence and the vote of no confidence

6. The non-sanctional instruments of parliamentary control over government

Political publicity

Bodies of control overseeing enforcement

Reporting

The committees of inquiry

Control of staff policy

7. Summary

VI. THE HEAD OF STATE

1. Constitutional authority

2. Election and legitimacy

3. The president's career path, recruitment, party affiliation and understanding of his role

4. Summary

VII. THE CONSTITUTIONAL COURT

1. The Competence of the Constitutional Court

2 The political role of the Constitutional Court

Competence of the Constitutional Court

The circle of the petitioners

The election of judges of the Constitutional Court

The recruitment and walk of life of the Members of Constitutional Court

The understanding of Members of Constitutional Court of their own role

The limits of political activism

Political counterbalances against the Constitutional Court

3. The consequence of activism of the Constitutional Court: the legalization of policy

4. Summary and additional interpretation

VIII. ADITTIONAL INSTITUTIONS OF THE CONSTITUTIONAL ESTABLISHMENT

1. Court organization

2. The Prosecution Service

3. The National Bank of Hungary

4. The parliamentary ombudsmen

5. The State Audit Office

6. The institutions of direct democracy

Referenda as instruments for mobilization and agenda-setting
The issues of referenda

IX. LOCAL GOVERNMENT AND LOCAL POLITICS

- 1. Structure of the local governmental system
  - Regional models and the Hungarian solution
  - Levels within the local governmental system
  - The responsibilities of each level
- 2. Operation of the local government system
  - Municipal governments
  - County governments
  - The municipal government of the capital
  - Summary: Structure and operation of the local government system
- 3. System of local elections
  - Representative body election
  - Election of a mayor
- 4. Factors influencing the results of the local-government elections
  - The role of the settlement type
  - The effects of the electoral system
  - National political events
  - Socio-demographic factors
  - Incumbency
- 5. Results of the local governmental elections
  - Settlements under 10,000 inhabitants
  - Settlements of over 10,000 inhabitants
  - Towns of county rank
  - County general assemblies
  - The capital
  - Summary: result of the local governmental elections

X. THE PARTY SYSTEM

- 1. The left and right
  - The relevance of left and right in Hungarian politics
  - The content of the left and right in Hungarian politics
- 2. Political cleavages
  - The definition and formation of political cleavages
  - The three cleavages of Hungarian politics
  - Cleavages and the dimensions of the party system
- 3. The changing of the Hungarian party system
  - The phases of the changing of the party system
  - The concentration and stabilization of the party system

XI. THE PARTIES

- 1. The role of parties in Hungarian politics

2. The political profile of the parties

Alliance of Young Democrats (Fidesz)
Hungarian Democratic Forum (MDF)
Hungarian Socialist Party (MSZP)
Alliance of Free Democrats (SZDSZ)
Independent Smallholders' Party (FKGP)
Christian Democratic People's Party
National radical parties: Hungarian Justice and Life Party (MIÉP) and the Movement for a Better Hungary (Jobbik)

3. The organizational-institutional side of the party system

The organization of the parties
The organizational structure of the parties
The management of the parties

XII. THE ELECTORAL SYSTEM AND ELECTIONS

1. General characteristics of the parliamentary electoral system

2. The three channels of the electoral system and the distribution of mandates

The regional list branch
Single Member Constituencies
The national list branch

3. Elections and the distribution of votes

4. The European Parliamentary elections

XIII. ELECTORAL BEHAVIOR

1. The political market: the development of party preferences

Changes in the stability of party preferences

2. The practice of electoral behavior in Hungary

3. The electoral base of parties

4. Values and attitudes of party voters

XIV. POLITICAL LEADERS AND THE ÉLITE

1. The development of the Hungarian political élite

The political élite of the communist system: the nomenclature
Nomenclature and transition: the question of changing the élite

2. General characteristics of the Hungarian political élite

The professionalization of the political class
Socio-demographic homogeneity of the political class

3. Characteristics of each of the party élites

4. Recruitment and career path

5. The institutional-functional groups of the political élite: the political influence of the sub-élite

6. Summary

XV. INTEREST GROUPS, PRESSURE GROUPS AND MEDIA

1. Economic interest groups

- Trade unions
- Entrepreneur and employer organizations
- Conflicts between employers and employees
- Macro-level interest reconciliation

2. Organizations and movements based on affiliation and ‘single-issues’

- Organizations based on special interests and situation
- Value-oriented communities
- Political movements

3. Satisfaction of interests: channels and instruments

- The institutionalized interest reconciliation
- Protests
- Informal bargaining systems and lobbying

4. Media

- The Act on Media
- The media market and its actors
- Media bias
- Political campaigns and the media
- Political agendas

XVI. THE CHARACTER OF HUNGARIAN DEMOCRACY. SUMMARY

1. Hungarian democracy in the majoritarian vs. consensus democracy model

- The Hungarian democracy type

2. The ‘presidentialization’ of governance and politics

- The dimension of the executive branch and the government system
- The party dimension
- The increasing personalization of electoral competition and politics

3. Hungarian politics at the dawn of the 21st century

EPILOGUE

Changes to stability: tendencies

The formation of the Bajnai cabinet

EP elections in 2009

BIBLIOGRAPHY

INDEX

