

Regional and Environmental Economic Studies

Supervisor's Name	Thesis Topic 20–21/1
Viktor ESZTERHAI	Geoeconomics, as a strategy of great powers: China, Russia, the US, EU, etc.
	Multipolarisation of the international order and its geopolitical implications
	Beyond classical geopolitics: geopolitical narratives as strategies
	Geopolitics of Asia
Éva HIDEG	Using scenario building method in the field of environmental issues (The student has to learn the method and has to elaborate alternative scenarios about the possible futures of a national environmental issue chosen freely.)
László JENEY	Geographical context of labour mobility in a given country (or world region)
János KOCSIS	Social and economic aspects of transformations of suburbs
	Metropolitan areas and poly centric urban developments: society, local politics and economy
	Gentrification of suburbs: emerging subcentres in areas beyond the core
	Urban regeneration and gentrification
	Socio-economic aspects of energy efficient urban development
	Involvement of locals in policy making - participation and other techniques
Attila KOROMPAI	Regional and urban territorial impact studies and development strategies
Nuno MORGADO	São Paulo Forum and the South American Integration
	Brazil's Foreign Policy (in the 20th and 21st centuries)
	Resources in South America with impact in International Politics
Zsófia NEMES	Environmental sustainability and the model of circular economy
	Industrial sustainability and symbiosis in practice
Márton PÉTI	Strategic environmental assessment
	Geopolitical/geoeconomic context of native ethnic minority communities
Géza SALAMIN	Economic significance of urban planning and development (case study)
Géza SALAMIN	Planning systems of countries (case study)
Anna SZÉCHY	Current issues in environmental policy
István TÓZSA	Urban, regional or country marketing issues